FARM

Dear Valued Customers,

It is with great excitement and anticipation that we offer this set of females to you this year. It is without a doubt the deepest set we have ever put together. The young heifers bring you the cutting edge of the most sought after and proven cow families in the breed, The bred heifers are cut right from the heart of our replacements and represent our future well. Lastly, the mature cows are sound, proven, productive and still in the prime of their life... ready to go to work for you. We disperse every solely owned bred 5 year old every year and, while it's painful to see them go, it is extremely gratifying to see them go into population and thrive for new programs around the country, We sell both the donors and the production cows in this group, so it is a real buyers' opportunity for you to dig into our young herd and cherry-pick some of the true building blocks of our program.

We have added a few special young donors to the sale this year, before their 5 year old time. They represent a couple of the hottest cow families in the business and we are excited to share half embryo interest in them with you this year. They are from the powerful Henrietta Pride family and the ever popular 6108 cow. This year also gives you a chance to purchase the first two live offspring that we have offered from the powerful GAR Progress 830 cow, as well as a couple of daughters of one of the breeds most proven cows, GAR Objective 2345. We have a huge selection of offspring from our two popular Henrietta Pride cows, 643T & 639T as well. Throw in some 6108's, 5F56's and many more, and we believe you will have a chance to witness one of the finest sale offerings assembled in a great while. The depth and quality is deep and the list of highlights is long.

Please plan to spend the weekend with us for this great event. The hospitality will be second to none. Join us Friday night for live entertainment from Country Music Artist Bridget Tatum, as well as a wonderful prime rib supper and lots of fellowship and spirits. Then spend the day with us on Saturday to take in the selling of 225 amazing female lots followed by 175 of the most powerful herd sire prospects we have ever offered.

The History of Dr. Fredric H. Clark

“Rocket Scientist turned Cattle Farmer” – That’s not a story you hear every day, but that’s exactly the path that Dr. Fredric H. Clark took to end up where he is now. Born in a sleepy little town in northeast Arkansas, Fred grew up as the middle child of three to a single mother and school teacher who struggled to raise her children to be the hard-working, highly-valued individuals they became. Times were tough and things didn’t come easy, but they had all they needed. Fred’s father, who served under Gen. George Patton in the Third Army during WWII, was a victim of PTSD and disappeared after his return from the war. His Uncle Toby, a farmer in Arkansas, would become his mentor. Fred spent his evenings, weekends, and summers following Uncle Toby, learning the ways of farming and developing an undeniable love for the land. This is where Fred’s passion for agriculture was born.

When Fred was in 8th grade, Russia launched the first manned spacecraft that orbited the earth. He recalls the words of cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, “I have just proven that there is no God; I have circled through Heaven and I didn’t see him.” Because of his strong Christian faith and his belief in American ingenuity, this event had a major influence on Fred’s life. It was then that he decided he was going to be an Electrical Engineer and work in the U.S. Space Program. He received his Bachelor’s of Science Degree from the University of Arkansas, followed by his Masters and Doctoral (Ph.D.) Degrees from the University of Alabama in Huntsville, all in electrical engineering.

Fresh out of college, Fred did indeed join the U.S. Space team working for the IBM Corporation, just after the fire that killed the Apollo 4 astronauts White, Chaffee, and Grissom. He continued his Rocket Scientist role through the rest of the Apollo and Saturn Programs, including all of the moon landings and the Skylab program. While still working for IBM, he worked on upgrades to the B-52 aircraft, the radar for the Tomahawk Cruise Missile, and a special cruise missile that was the first design used in combat during the Vietnam War.

When IBM phased out of the Huntsville, Alabama area, Dr. Clark was offered a promotion and the opportunity to move anywhere that IBM had a permanent location. Fred declined that offer as he had grown to love the Huntsville area, and he was raising two young children and believed the area to be their permanent home. Since family is so important to Fred, which is as evident today as it was then, he and a partner decided to use their many years of experience and contacts in the area to launch a new company. The company would be called CAS, Inc., specializing in the design of radar and missile systems.

Over the next 27 years, CAS grew to over 1000 employees with annual revenue exceeding $250,000,000. CAS applied their expertise to many programs including the PATRIOT Air Defense System, the HAWK Air Defense System, the THAAD Air Defense System, the Apache Helicopter Program, the Blackhawk Helicopter Program, the UAV Program and numerous other short-range missile and radar programs.

In 2006, Dr. Clark and his partner sold CAS. As a condition of the sale, Fred agreed not to practice his engineering skills anywhere in the world for seven years. Not willing to sit idle, Fred decided to focus his efforts on growing his farm and enjoying more time with his family. The Clarks sold their Alabama home and made Deer Valley Farm their permanent residence, returning Fred to his childhood farming roots.

The Dean of The College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas would later tell his good friend Dr. Clark, “Fred, you are the only PHD Rocket Scientist turned farmer/rancher that we know”.

The History of Deer Valley Farm

“As with most operations, Deer Valley Farm has seen many transitions and changes as it has evolved into the thriving operation that it is today. Few would have envisioned our look today when, in 1988, Fred Clark purchased a tract of land in a beautiful valley nestled in the hills of Tennessee, primarily for recreation and hunting. As time passed and he continued to amass land, a commercial herd was started to utilize the grass that grew on the valley’s rolling hills. As with most of Fred Clark’s ventures, it wasn’t enough just to own cattle; he wanted to own elite cattle. “It costs the same to feed a great one as it does to feed an average one,” he was known to say, and his philosophy then has not changed today. This mindset led him to start an elite Limousin program that grew to great proportions.

At the time of Deer Valley’s inception, most of the value in the Limousin breed was established in the show ring; so, we built a herd that had the ability to compete there. We were fortunate enough to win many shows around the country, and at one time had as many as 5 National Champions walking the pastures at the same time. Deer Valley exhibited the National Champion Carload in Denver and raised and sold many females that won several major shows across the country.

As the luster of the show ring wore off and the landscape of the business became more production-oriented, it became apparent that to create a sustainable operation with the ability to cash flow year in and year out, a change needed to be made. As we looked around at what was happening in the cattle industry, we quickly realized that our competition wasn’t other breeders in the Limousin breed, but another breed that was very progressive and taking over the countryside one operation at a time: the Angus breed. It was apparent that the power of a black hide was becoming more and more important. No matter what each breed did to change its color, it always came back to a comparison of them versus Angus. That made for an easy decision at Deer Valley – join the number one breed in the industry or become irrelevant. In 2005, we began that transition.

Today we run close to 2500 head of the most progressive Angus cattle that can be found in the breed. Deer Valley is home to some of the most prominent donor females in the breed and one of the most progressive young herd sire batteries in the business. Today Fred Clark’s saying still rings true, “It costs the same to feed a great one as it does to feed an average one.”

Deer Valley Farm is a fully integrated operation that is fortunate enough to grow and harvest the majority of everything we feed. We operate on approximately 5500 acres of land, and we farm hay, corn, and soybeans on 1500 to 2000 acres of it. With primarily river bottomland, we utilize minimal till and rotational farming practices to improve the land and minimize erosion and topsoil loss.

We have positioned our program around raising commercial bulls for the progressive commercial producer, and we have always believed that the success of a breeding program lies in the depth of their cow power and the strength of their cow families. For this reason, you will continue to see Deer Valley searching for that next great individual that we consider a “breed changer”. Our mission is to raise superior seed stock that are outstanding in every segment of the industry.

We are certain that just as we have seen many twists and turns up to this point, we are sure to see many more. We plan to take them head on and continue to approach each situation with a long-term outlook and a vision toward the future.

Generation 2100 was the most talked about herd sire prospect in the fall of 2013 and was the top-selling feature of that Vintage Angus Ranch Sale and his first progeny are showing that talk was just the beginning of the story. His influence and half interest in a maternal sister headline the 2015 Focused on the Future Sale at Deer Valley.
